

About Us

About Us

DCD is a growing company with an ongoing programme of investment in equipment and personnel. Based near Chelmsford we serve businesses and organisations throughout the UK and internationally.

We have been in business since the mid 1980's and our services have expanded from our origins as experts in the copying and printing of 3.5" diskettes. Today, digital media offers endless scope to organisations and marketers. CDs and DVDs have been added to our portfolio along with a new breed of products such as USB Pens and other methods of data storage.

Dedication and expertise

Our dedicated team prides itself on its customer facing attitude. We are not afraid to work long hours to turn around orders in record time, or go that extra mile to fulfil our customer's requirements. Amongst our team are people with expertise gained in the printing industry; their skills and experience ensure we produce accurate colour matching and exceptional print quality.

Loyalty and data security

Among our customers are household names such as Cambridge University, Boots the Chemist, and IBM We handle special projects and secure data, and are equipped to meet stringent customer specifications. Our efficient processes and personal approach ensure that our customers benefit from cost effective solutions.

Our office.

One of our production machines.

